Meeting Anytime, Anywhere

Providing last minute meetings is one of our specialties, but as corporations seek to maximize the efficiency of their operations, virtual meetings have emerged as a viable, alternative solution. PharmaOut can set up a virtual meeting that provides critical training anywhere in the world.

PharmaOut Case Study

The Challenge

Our client was working on a clinical trial that was nearing the enrollment phase. They needed a series of investigator meetings (IM's) to train almost 500 investigators from around the world within a 6-month period. They had a tight budget, were concerned about scheduling and many factors were undetermined including: dates, trial investigators and even locations.

Our Solution

PharmaOut developed a flexible meeting plan that enabled our client to make last-minute scheduling decisions. Our team of dedicated planners produced a series of IM's in strategic locations that enabled most of the investigators to attend the trials. We also provided virtual training seminars for those who were unable to attend in person.

The Result

All 500 investigators were successfully trained by the deadline. Our approach created planning efficiencies and maximized cost savings. In addition, we remained compliant throughout the entire process.
